2013 INFORMATION PACKET

APPLICANT DEADLINE: FEBRUARY 22, 2013

Q&A

What is the program?

Triangle Rising Stars is a program designed to bring together area high school musical theater students to perform together and compete against one another for educational scholarships and other prizes. The Triangle Rising Star Awards is a member of The National High School Musical Theater Awards (NHSMTA), a national program that unites high school musical theater awards programs from across the country under one roof. At the national showcase, the two winners from awards programs such as Triangle Rising Star Awards will compete against the best actor and best actress from each of dozens of local competitions, drawing on some 1,000 high schools nationwide.

What does the TRS Award entail?

The two TRS student winners will be provided with $1,000 academic scholarships and will be invited to represent the Triangle Rising Star Awards in an all-expense paid trip to the National High School Musical Theater Awards program on June 25- July 2, 2013 in New York City. After a week of coaching, auditions, rehearsals and a final performance "on Broadway," a handful of students from the elite group will be awarded scholarships and other prizes.

This video provides a great peak into what happened last year:

<http://video.pbs.org/program/broadway-or-bust/>

Who's Included?

All students from any High School in the following counties: Chatham, Durham, Franklin, Granville, Harnett, Johnston, Lee, Moore, Orange, Person, Vance, Wake, or Warren are eligible to participate.

Are there any costs involved?

No, through the generosity of our sponsors, the TRS Awards are run at no cost to those who participate. The Award recipients are provided scholarships that cover all of their expenses (travel, room & board, and entertainment) to attend the National High School Musical Theater Awards in New York City.

How do I apply?

See the Intent to Participate form on the attached page. All interested students must complete this form in order to have members of our judging panel attend their school's performance. Finalists will be invited to a closed audition on June 1 and to participate in our performance June 2.

How does judging work?

Students will be judged solely on the role performed in their high school-affiliated musical theater production. 2 members from a panel of judges will attend the production live and evaluate the performance. Then a DVD of highlights from the applicant's performance will be required for final adjudication. The vote of the judges who attended the performance will count for 65% of the total score and the panel viewing the DVD will count for 35% of the total score. Students selected to the second round of competition will audition in front of a panel of judges and participate in a final performance on June 2, 2013 at DPAC. Winners will be announced at the final performance.

The video quality of the audition tape, and other variables such as the quality of the set production will not be taken into consideration. We realize there are discrepancies between the resources afforded to one school's program over another, and it is for this reason that we have professional judges that are able to discern talent beyond show and production qualities. We pride ourselves on giving every student that applies a fair opportunity to represent their state on the national stage.

Dear Triangle High Schools,

We, the Durham Performing Arts Center, in conjunction with Theatre in the Park, and Playmakers Repertory Company are delighted to usher the Triangle Rising Star Awards into its third year. This program, which serves as a regional qualifier for the National High School Musical Theater Awards/Jimmy Awards, is the first such program of its kind open to the entire Triangle region. Last year, we were pleased to present Joshua Williams from Cary High School and Gretchen Struckmeyer from Milbrook High School as our Triangle Rising Star representatives. This year under the sponsorship of Bailey's Fine Jewelry, we are excited to see this program grow and engage all of the talent within our local area students!

The 2013 Triangle Rising Star Awards will be run in a different format from years past: A panel of judges will attend the performance of all students whose application has been received by the deadline. Finalists will be invited to a one-day closed audition held on June 1. On this day, an adjudicated awards process will recognize two exceptional students in the categories of Best Performance by an Actor and Best Performance by an Actress. A rehearsal for all finalists will take place following the closed auditions. Then on June 2, there will be a ticketed Triangle Rising Stars event held at DPAC, Durham Performing Arts Center, at 8:00 p.m. which will feature performances by the finalists as well as the announcement of our winners.

In order for your students to participate in the 2013 Triangle Rising Star Awards program, please read the guidelines and complete the enclosed Intent to Participate form. The Intent to Participate Form and requested package items must be completed and mailed to DPAC no later than February 22, 2012.

The spirit of this and likeminded programs is to reinforce the importance of the arts in turning out well-rounded, creative adults, no matter their career choice. I hope you will join me as we gather to celebrate our love for musical theater and recognize our local talent.

For more information about the program, please contact me at: rgragg@dpacnc.com or (919) 281-0476. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

With my best wishes for the season,

Rachel Gragg

BAILEY'S
FINE JEWELRY

Durham Performing Arts Center, Bailey's Fine Jewelry and Theatre in the Park Present
2013 Triangle Rising Star Awards at DPAC June 2nd
A Chance to Compete on the National Stage

January 13, 2013 (Durham, NC) - Durham Performing Arts Center, Bailey's Fine Jewelry and Theatre in the Park are thrilled to announce the 2013 Triangle Rising Star Awards at DPAC. The Triangle Rising Star Awards is an education initiative to celebrate students who participate and excel with wide ranging talents in their high school musical.

This year, the Triangle Rising Star Awards will select Best Actor, Best Actress, Best Production and Best Chorus Ensemble through an audition process from participating high schools' musicals in the 2012/2013 season. Teachers must first submit an Intent to Participate Form, and the requested package (recent headshot, résumé formatted to our provided template and a highlight reel--video or DVD--of the lead role performance in high school musical production). Items must be completed and mailed to DPAC no later than February 22, 2012. Judges will attend the various high schools' musical theater productions. The top submissions will be selected and invited back on June 1st to a closed audition where they will be viewed and judged by a selection committee. The following evening on June 2nd, there will be a ticketed Triangle Rising Stars event at DPAC where Best Actor and Actress will be announced. Those selected will be invited to attend the National High School Musical Theater Awards in New York June 25-July 2, 2013. They will each be recipients of a $1000 scholarship as well. Best Production and Best Chorus Ensemble will win trophies to display at their schools.

"Theatre in the Park is proud to once again partner with the Durham Performing Arts Center and be a part of the third annual Triangle Rising Stars. The Triangle is full of talent. Bravo DPAC for giving young actors and actresses an opportunity to showcase that talent," said Program Marketing Director of Theatre in the Park, Brent Simpson. The Triangle Rising Star Awards are in conjunction with The National High School Musical Theater Awards, a national celebration of outstanding student achievement in high school musical theater. Established by Nederlander Alliances and Pittsburgh CLO, the program recognizes individual artistry in vocal, dance, and acting performance, as well as honors teachers and their schools' commitment to excellence in performing arts education.

"DPAC is thrilled to be able to offer an amazing nationally recognized educational opportunity to two Triangle students for a chance to experience part of our very own Nederlander-sponsored program in New York City, the Jimmy Awards™," stated DPAC Senior Director of Marketing, Rachel Gragg.

These two top Triangle students will have the opportunity to compete in the National High School Musical Theater Awards at Broadway's Minskoff Theatre July 1, 2013. The two winners will receive a trip to New York which includes master classes and private coaching from theatre professionals. In addition, they will have the opportunity to be seen by casting agents, meet and converse with Broadway actors, perform on a Broadway stage and compete for scholarships and other prizes.

WHEN: Friday, February 22, Letter of Intent Submission Due Date
Monday, May 13, DVD Highlight Reel and production photos due
Saturday, June 1, Closed Auditions and Group Rehearsal
